To the Hiring Manager / Future Employer,

I am writing to recommend Yang Zhenduo, who has worked with Kingleader Co., Ltd. as our software engineer on several key digital initiatives.

During his time with us, Zhenduo singlehandedly developed our company website <https://www.kingleaderpoultry.com/>. The website's main features include a full content management system (CMS), enabling our team to easily upload and manage product information, as well as a dedicated contact form to streamline customer inquiries. He also helped strengthen our company's overall online presence to reach a wider audience.

Currently, Zhenduo is leading an innovative computer vision project aimed at identifying whether chickens are laying eggs using AI-powered image recognition while balancing his busy academic workload. This showcases his ability to apply advanced technologies to real-world agricultural needs.

Throughout his work, Zhenduo has demonstrated strong technical expertise, creativity, and problem-solving skills, always delivering quality solutions on time. I am confident he will bring the same dedication and capability to any future role.

Please feel free to contact me at the company email if you require further information.

Sincerely,
Daw Thandar Lwin
